
WEAR IT FORWARD

By Andrew, Brent, Milo, & Sacha

ABOUT US

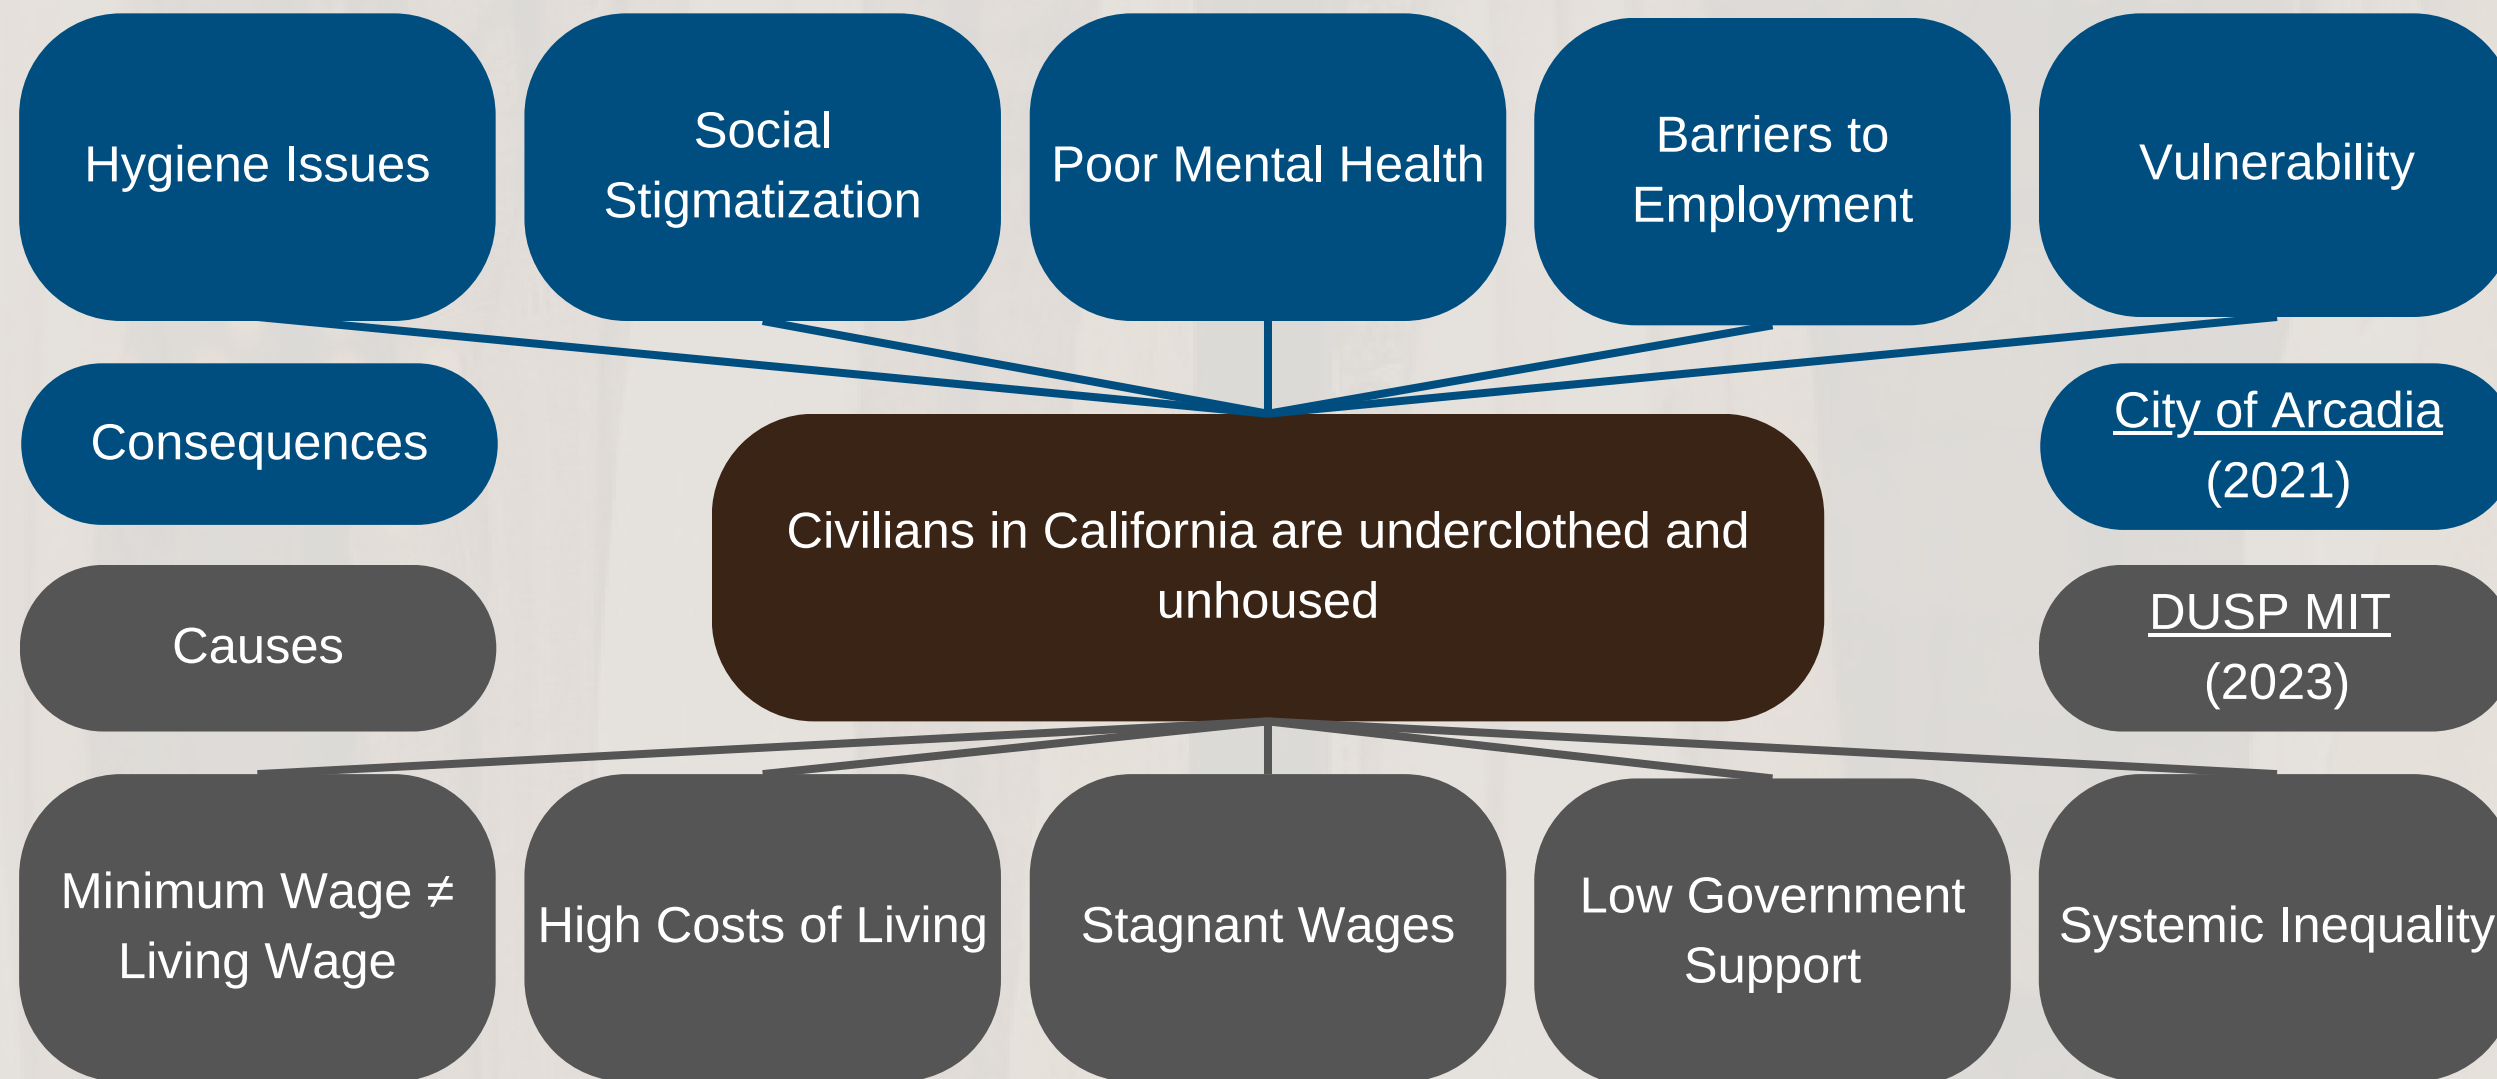

We are a group of Juniors at Legacy Magnet Academy looking to make a change in our community.

We love fashion and supporting members of our community.

PROBLEM

All across Orange County, less fortunate individuals cannot provide for themselves financially due to their living conditions. Throughout Southern California, there are a massive amount of charities looking to support the less fortunate, but there could always be more help.

ROOT CAUSES

WHY DOES THIS MATTER?

Of the impoverished in Orange County and Southern California, a common issue is being under-clothed.

Many citizens are faced with their dignity weakened from their clothes being dirty, the same, or distressed.

WHY WE CARE

Visiting Los Angeles often, we see that homeless people are unable to have the dignity of changing clothes, and must wear the same clothes every day. Seeing this injustice, we had to take a stand and make a change in our community. This is why we started this Civic Action Project. Our vision is that all people will have the dignity of wearing changing clothes.

SMART GOAL

SPECIFIC

Donate clothes to two small and local non-profits, contributing to helping those in need.

MEASUREMENT

We will donate at least 50 pieces of clothing to each non-profit.

ACHIEVABLE

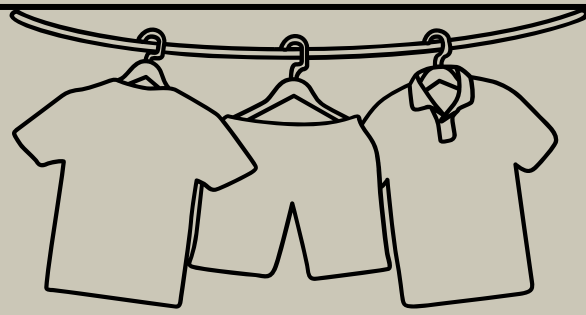

We will contact the non-profits and organize a partnership within a week of the project starting.

RELEVANT

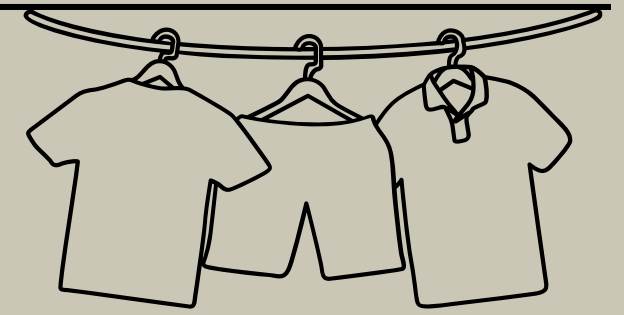

Donating clothes to our local non-profits will help our community and those in need.

TIME BOUND

We will finish donating the clothes by 03/10.

RESEARCH

IDENTIFY

A large amount of unhoused civilians in California, specifically in Southern California, are underclothed. This issue must be addressed, as the lack of clothes for impoverished individuals is impeding the dignity and confidence of citizens.

DEVELOP ALLIES

Organizations such as the OC Rescue Mission and Clothing the Homeless aim to serve unhoused individuals. Working along with these organizations would be ideal to our project.

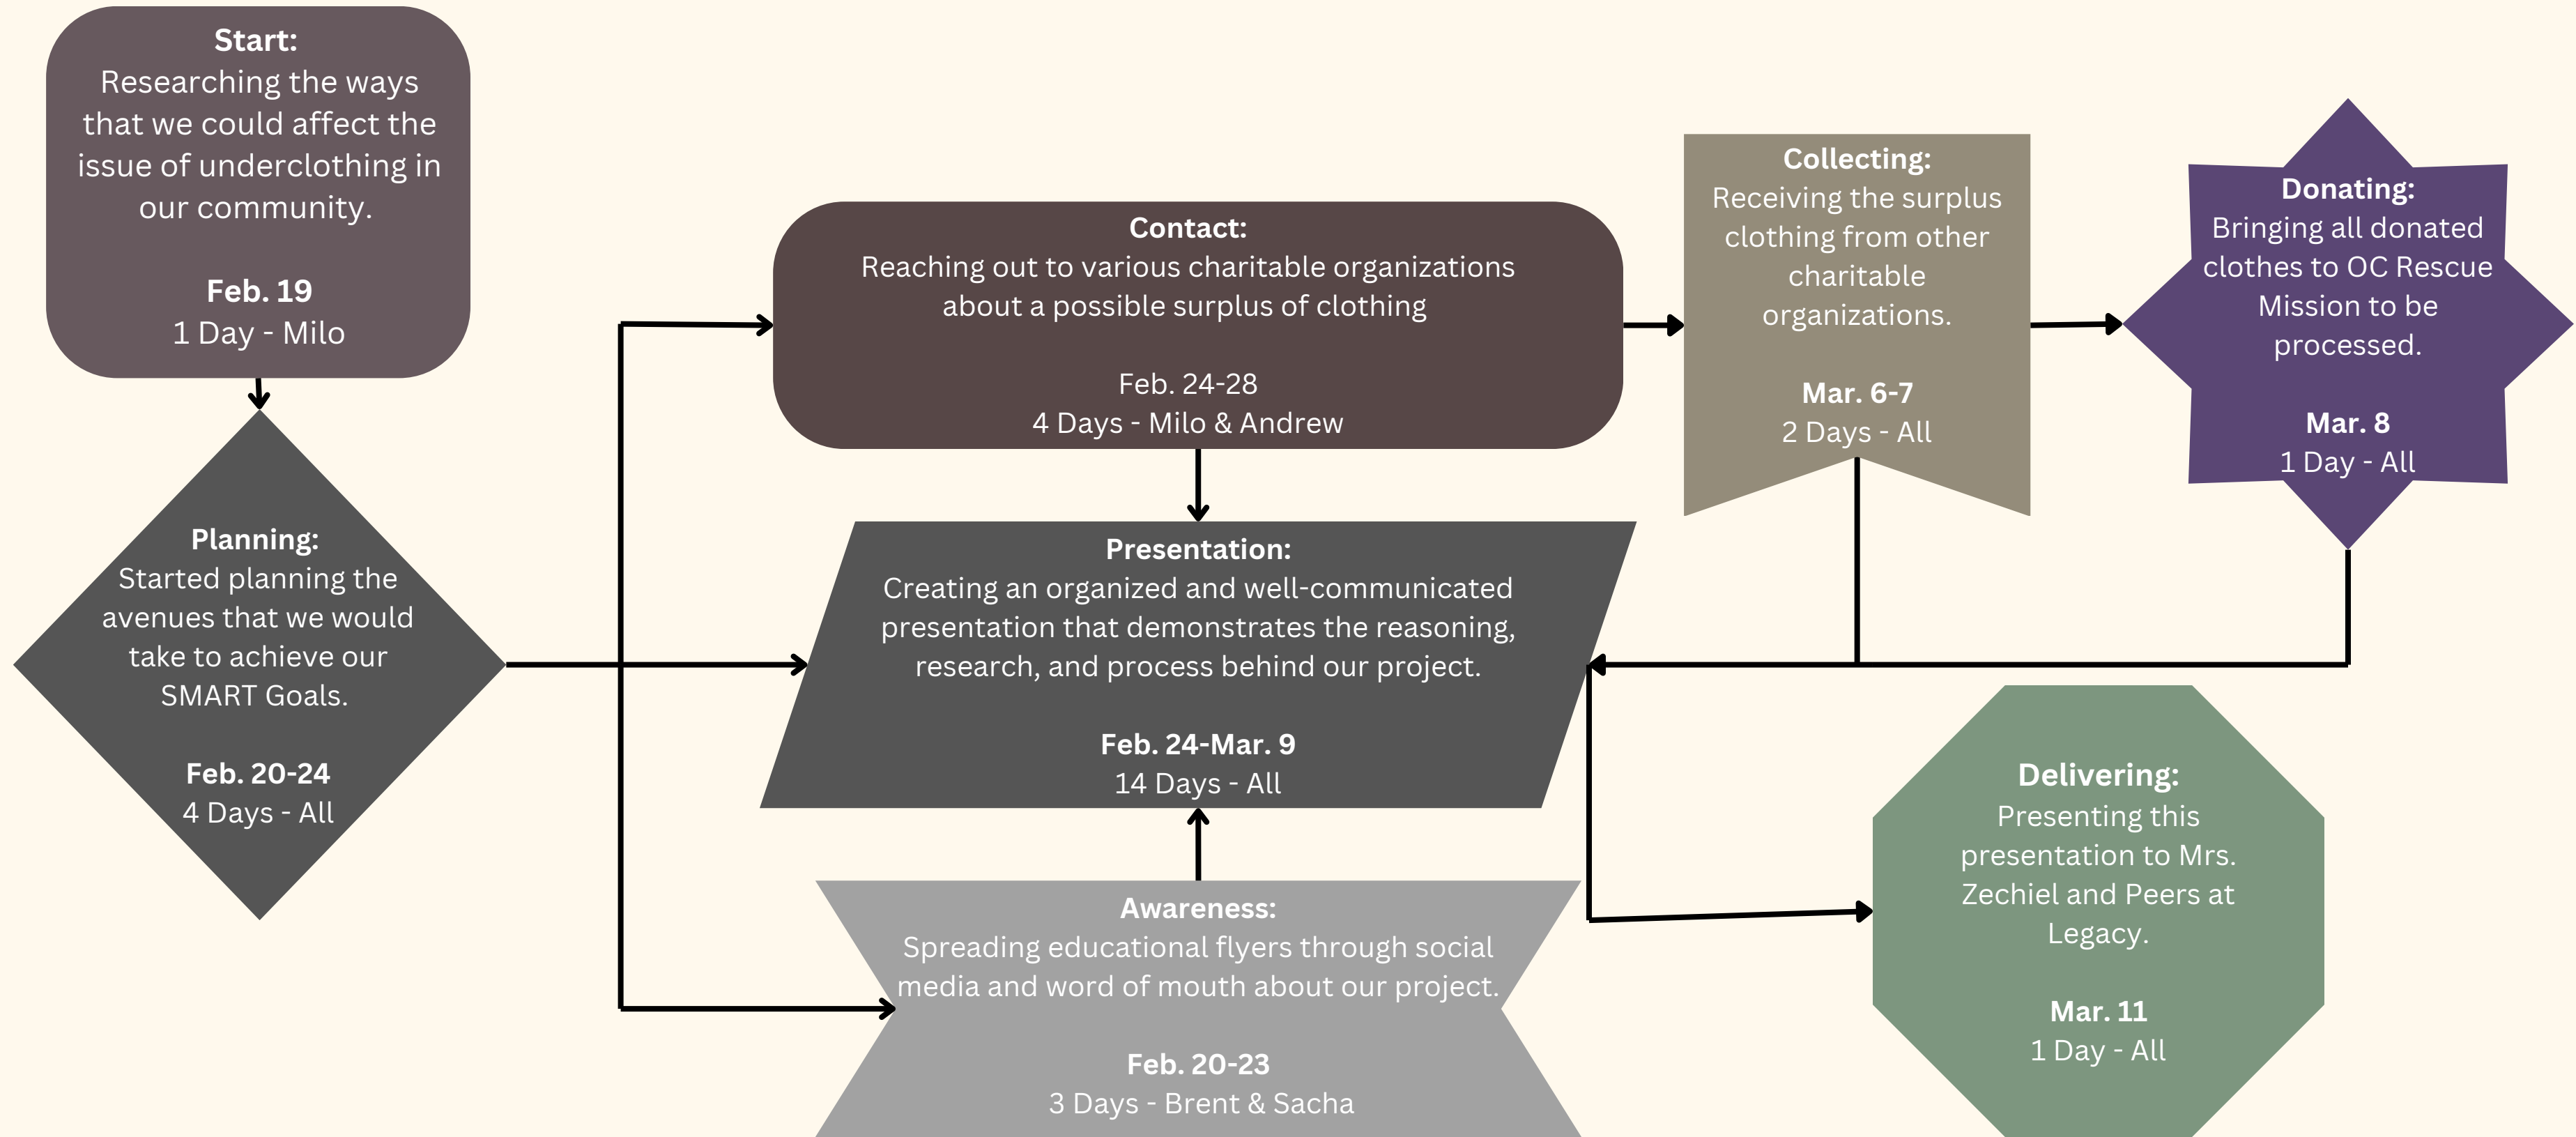

TAKE ACTION

We will collaborate with these organizations to provide clothing to unhoused individuals. As a team, a donation drive can be created that will help gather clothes to donate to charitable organizations. In addition, we will promote our project at school and on social media.

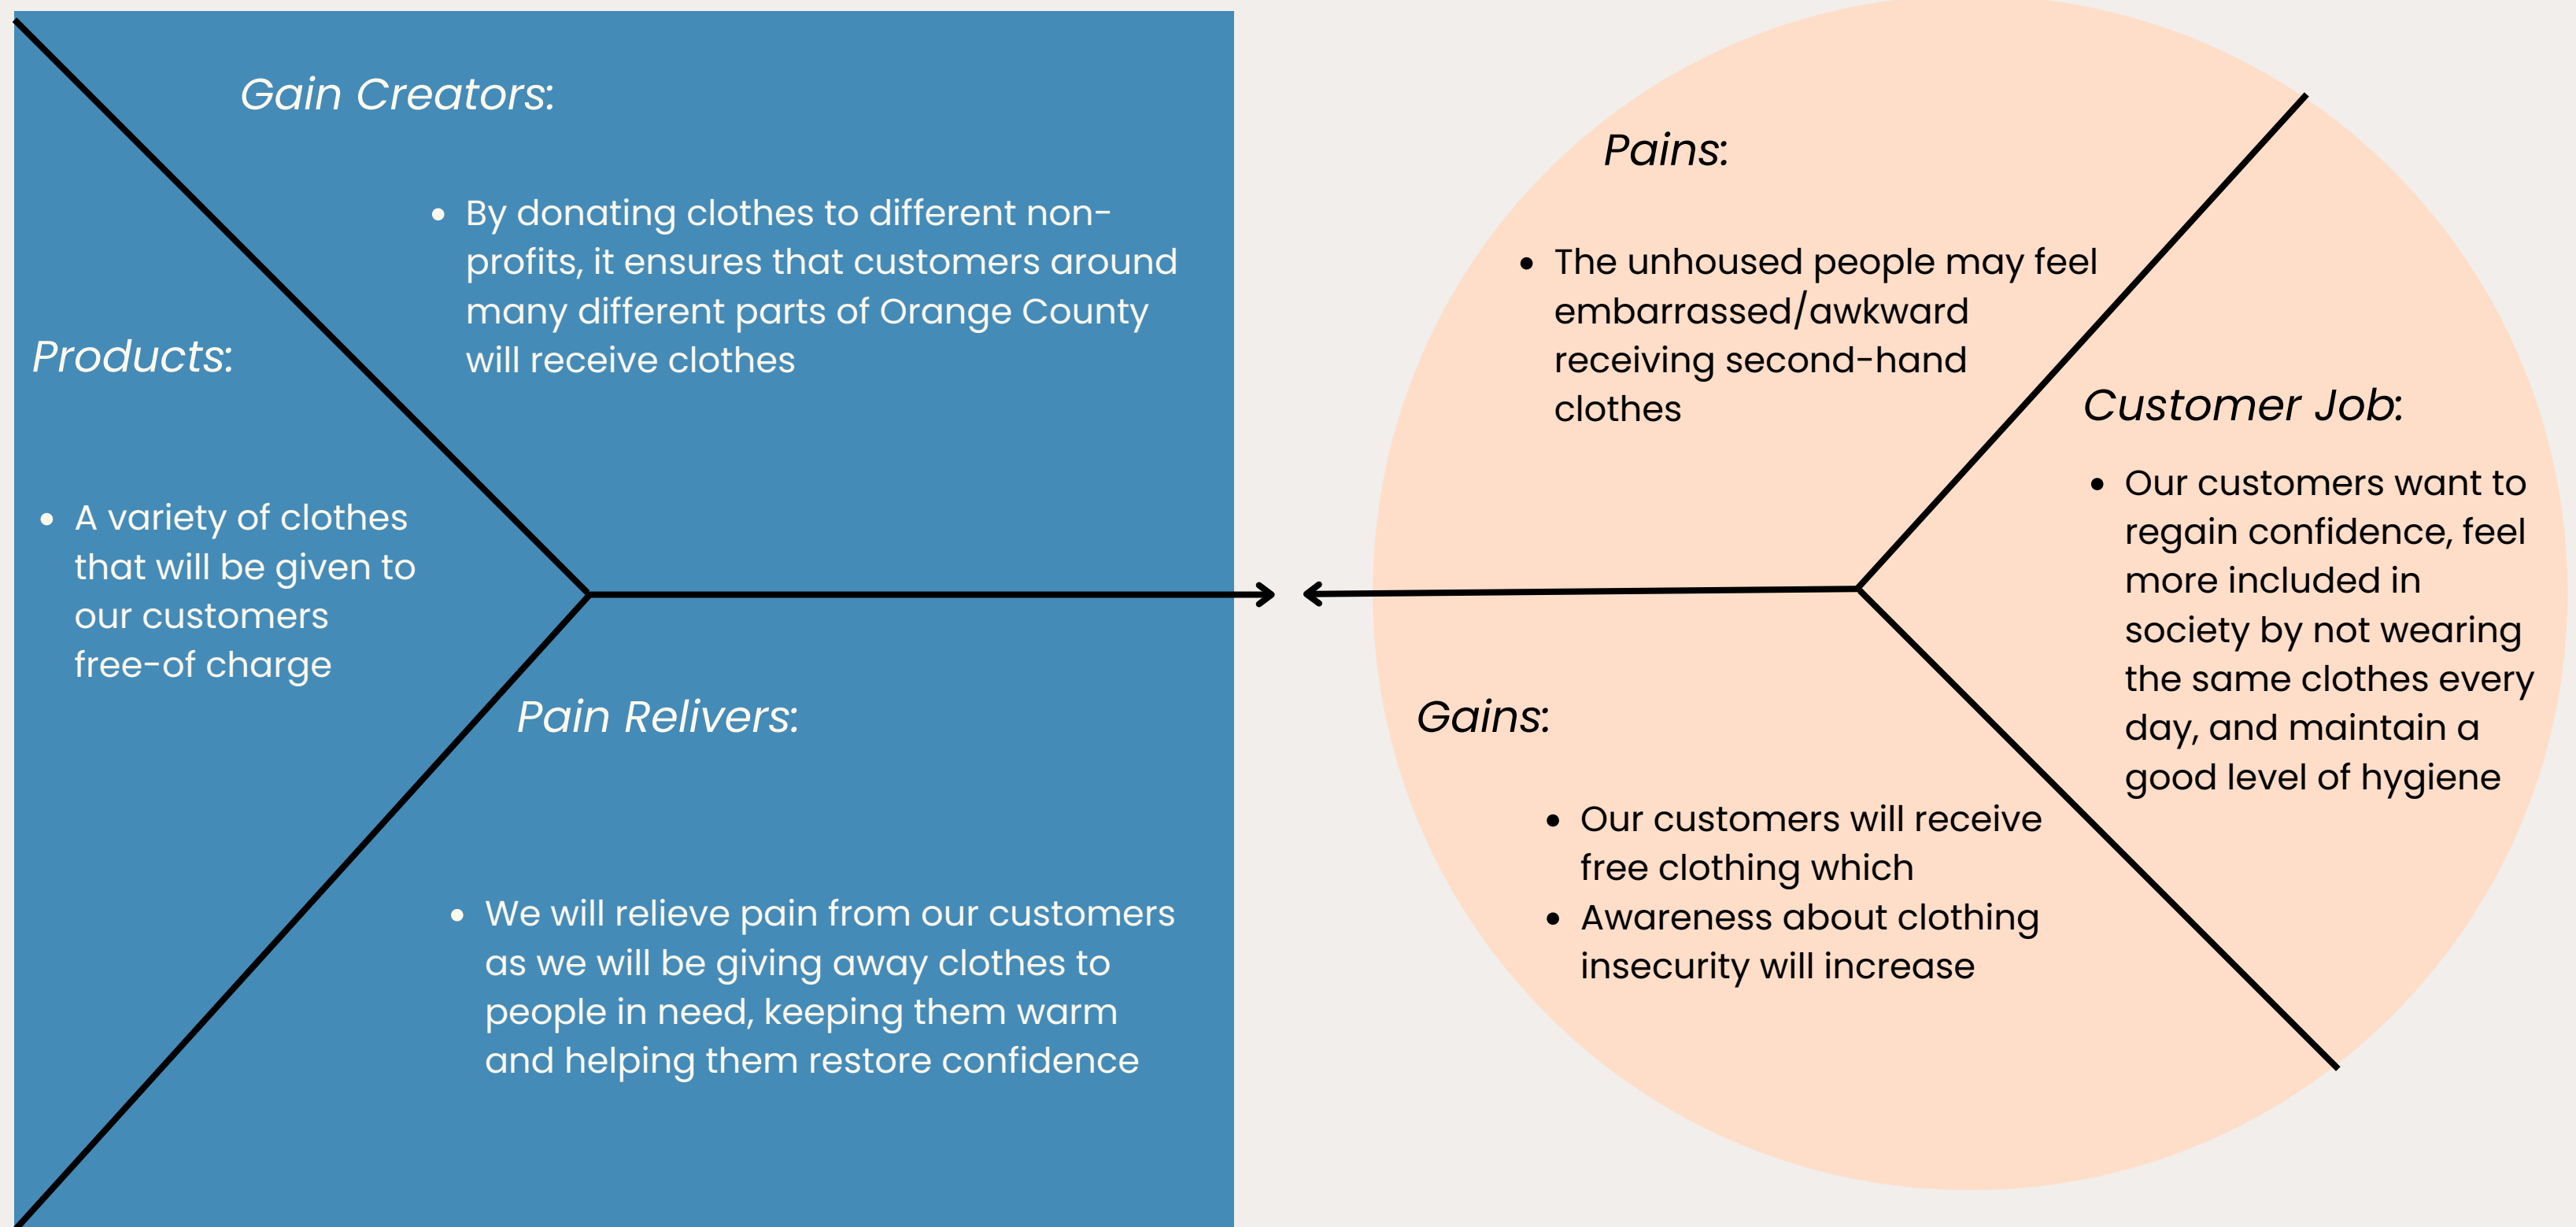

PROPOSED SOLUTION

Our project is focused on gathering clothes from our community to donate to these organizations. We hope that the clothes donated will come to good use for unhoused individuals.

PERT CHART

VALUE PROPOSITION / CUSTOMER PROFILE

PESTLE ANALYSIS

POLITICS

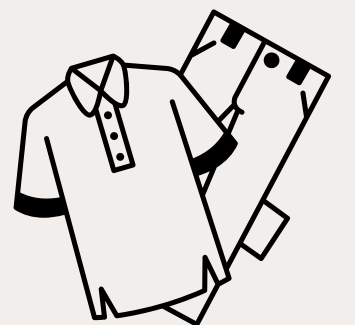

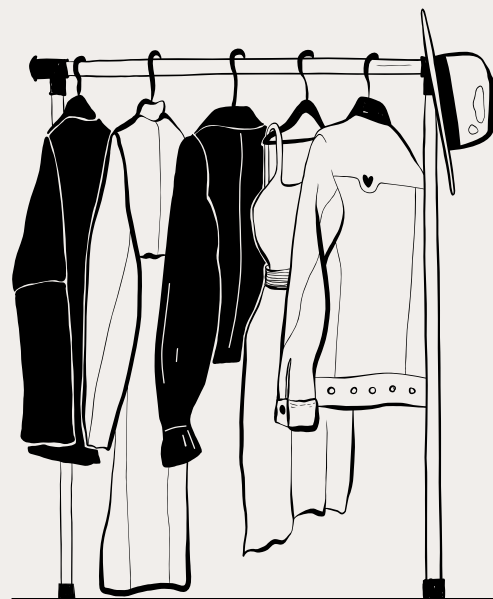

The government in California supports addressing the issue of homelessness by providing funds to nonprofit organizations or projects. However, these funds are provided at a slow rate due to bureaucratic delays which causes unhoused individuals to wait longer.

ECONOMY

The cost of living in California is expensive as the average cost of living is $53,082 annually (Carey, 2024), which includes housing. The price of housing has been steadily increasing in certain areas of California. Due to these high costs, these individuals are unable to access the needed necessities.

SOCIETY

Community engagement such as volunteer groups or social media brings awareness to this issue. Due to these factors, it allows others in the community to take action by offering support to unhoused individuals.

PESTLE ANALYSIS

TECHNOLOGY

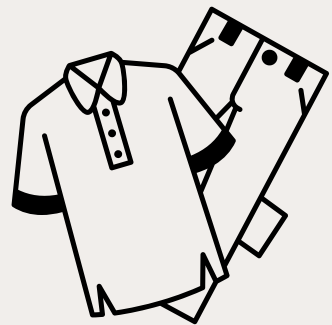

Social media platforms such as TikTok, Instagram, or YouTube can bring awareness about homelessness in our community. This can allow others to take action by raising funds or donating to drives. We'll be using social media to help spread awareness regarding homelessness.

LAW

Clothing donated to organizations must meet sanitary standards and be safe to wear. All standards must be met before items are distributed by an organization or project.

ENVIORNMENT

Wear It Forward is environmentally friendly as we encourage others to recycle their clothing. We do this by donating used clothes to the unhoused community.

STAKEHOLDERS

DIRECT STAKEHOLDERS

Both parties are actively involved in our project in terms of addressing the issue.

UNHOUSED COMMUNITY

Less fortunate individuals need necessities such as clothes to visually present themselves.

BENEFITS

These individuals will receive clothing from our project, which will help them for the long-term.

NON PROFIT ORGANZATIONS

Nonprofit organizations such as rescue missions or homeless shelters can help address the problem by providing the needed necessities to unhoused individuals.

TIMELINE

FEB. 20

Planning out logistics and variables for clothing transfer.

FEB. 24

Begin spreading awareness about "Wear It Forward" through Social Media.

FEB. 28

Finalize communication with organizations willing to transfer clothing.

MAR. 7

Gather surplus clothing bags from organizations willing to donate.

MAR 8.

Donate all collected clothing bags to the OC Rescue Mission.

STEP 1: PLANNING

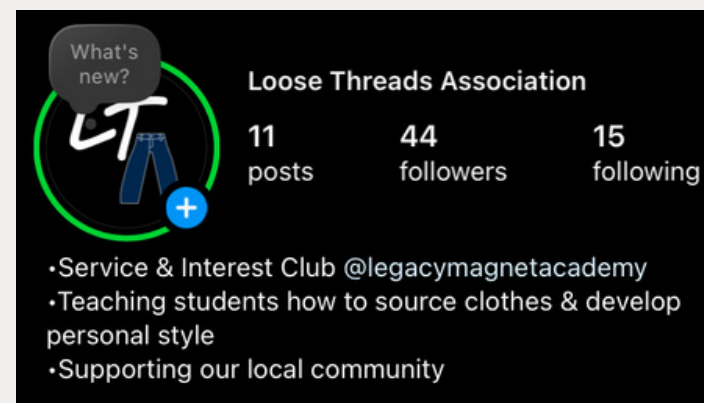

GOALS

Setting up our smart goals of donating more than 50 garments to local non-profits that have an impact on underclothing, by our set deadline of March 10th.

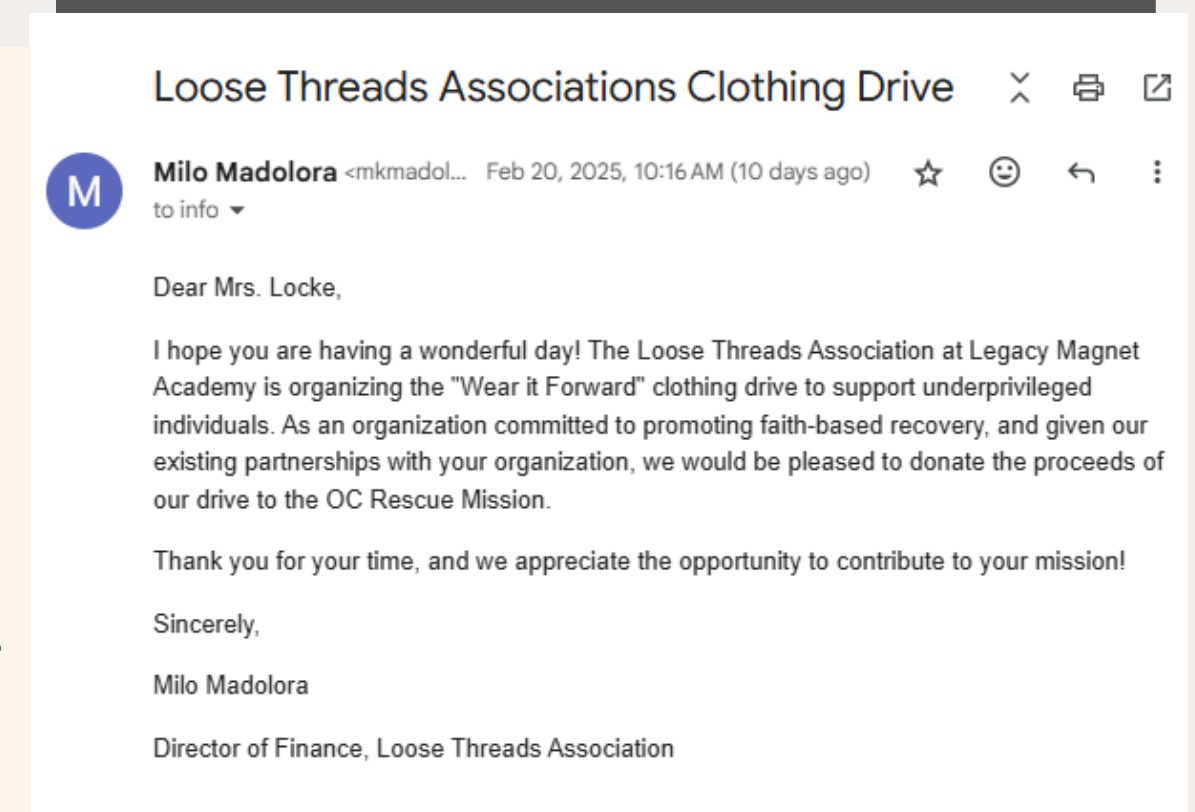

PROMOTION

In order to boost awareness on our project to Legacy Magnet Academy students, we created a flyer on Instagram that shows what our movement is and the way they could support it.

APPROVAL

By sending an email to the OC Rescue Mission, we were able to let them know that they will be the recipients of the clothing.

STEP 2: INITIATION

COMMUNICATING

In order to surpass our goal of donating greater than 50 garments, we reached out to various charitable organizations around Southern California if they had surplus clothing. Sending out emails to Laura’s House, Families Forward, and Working Wardrobes. We were able to set up lines of communication with multiple organizations.

STEP 3: FINALIZE

Wear It FORWARD

ESTABLISH

Ultimately, the “Wear it Forward” movement partnered with Laura’s House, a domestic violence shelter in Laguna Hills. Through communication, we were able to establish “Wear it Forward” as the intermediary between the two organizations and allow the movement to take action.

STEP 4: TRANSFER

SURPLUS

With Milo's connection to the Laura's House Donation Center Assistant and Volunteer Advocate, surplus clothing and children's toys were able to be collected from the charity. This resulted in our project having an even greater impact that our goal of 50 garments, and we received 8 more bags of clothing that exceeded 200 garments of clothing.

STEP 5: DONATING

GIVING

The final step of our project, giving the clothing bags from the drive and Laura's House's surplus to the OC Rescue Mission was the final step. This entailed going on sight to the donation center and receiving a signed donation receipt.

Wear It Forward Project

Hello OCRM,

Earlier today, a colleague and I donated approximately 10 bags of clothing through Loose Thread Association's Wear It Forward initiative. We would love to know how our donation will make an impact.

Our goal is to support two small, local non-profits by providing clothing to help those in need. We appreciate any insight you can share on how our contribution will be used.

Thank you!

Best, Brent

REFLECTION

RESULTS

Our goal was to collect and donate at least 50 garments by our deadline of March 10th.

We exceeded this goal by donating over 8 bags of clothing, surpassing our initial target. This measurable outcome demonstrates our success.

Additionally, we established communication with both the OC Rescue Mission and Laura's House, acting as intermediaries to facilitate the transfer of donations.

Our timely efforts ensured that the collected clothing reached those in need within our set timeframe, reinforcing the relevance and achievability of our objective.

S M A R T

PROBLEMS

Some initial issues were that these organizations that we wanted to collaborate with were not sending timely responses to our emails, or declining participating in our movement. This resulted in missing a deadline we set for ourselves.

Another obstacle was a communication barrier in our group. We found that Sacha had work on multiple days, Brent was coming down with a cold, Andrew had issues with transportation to donate what he collected, and Milo was struggling with keeping everyone on the same page with these circumstances.

THANK YOU
